WORLD HISTORY IP
This course will follow the California State Social Science Standards as outlined for students taking World History. Students in grade ten study major turning points that shaped the modern world, from the late eighteenth century through the present, including the cause and course of the two world wars. They trace the rise of democratic ideas and develop an understanding of the historical roots of current world issues, especially as they pertain to international relations. Students develop an understanding of current world issues and relate them to their historical, geographic, political, economic, and cultural contexts. Students consider multiple accounts of events in order to understand international relations from a variety of perspectives.

Textbook
Ramirez, Susan & Stearns, Peter & Wineburg, Sam. World History: Human Legacy.

Students will also use a variety of newspaper articles, periodicals, and internet sites for research of different historical perspectives and interpretations of the issues covered in class. There will be multiply videos that provide visual historical lessons for students to study the content relative the period of time studied.

Required Materials
• #2 Pencil w/eraser (mechanical with #2 lead is okay)
• Black/Blue ball-point pen (no red pens)
• College-ruled lined binder paper (clean edge, not torn from a spiral notebook preferred)
• 3-ring Binder
• Flash Drive (USB)

Students are expected to come to class prepared every day. Failure to be prepared with these items may result in academic failure.

Grading Policy
All assignments are worth points and grades will be calculated based on the amount of points earned. The majority of work will be completed in class, during class time. Work will be divided into the following categories:
- Class work
- Quizzes
- Tests
- Projects
- Writing Assignments

Common Core Standards
In addition to the state content standards, this class will also incorporate the new Common Core Standards for Social Studies. These are skills-based standards that emphasize reading and writing specific to History content. Essentially, students will be expected to read a variety of text and write about what they have learned with increasing sophistications. By using these standards as guidelines, students will be better prepared for the demands of college and the workplace. If you have questions about the CCS, please contact me and I am happy to discuss them and their implications on the classroom.

You can find a copy of the Common Core in its entirety at: http://www.cde.ca.gov/re/cc/

Daily Classroom Procedures

- Students will enter the classroom ready for class. This means removing any hats, hoods and earphones and putting away cellphones (BEFORE ENTERING CLASS). There is no tolerance for electronic devices in class (THIS MEANS NOT HAVING THEM On THE DESK TOPS DURING LASS) unless instructions are given to have them out.
- As soon as the bell rings, students will be working on the daily starter question. They will be provided with a paper on Monday on which they will answer each day’s question. Credit is given on a day to day bases.
- Students should be engaged in class at all times. This means active listening, participating in discussions and staying focused on the task at hand.
- Students should expect to remain in class the entire period. You will receive 3 exit passes per quarter to be used for personal issues. At the end of each quarter you will be given credit for each card returned that was not used during the quarter. Each card returned unused will be used as credit to an assignment of my choosing, for a total of 60 points. (3 X 5=15 per quarter)
- Most work will be completed in class and turned in at the end of the period. Completing work when it is assigned is essential to success in this class.
- Students do not pack up or prepare to leave until I tell them to do so. Students will be dismissed after the bell rings.
- No food, gum or drinks during class.

All procedures go along with or exceed the requirements found in the JFK Handbook; please also refer to those for further program and school policies.
Thank you and looking forward to a successful year.
