

JFK Class of 2019 SENIOR WILLS!

to be published on May 31, 2019 in the Kennedy CLARION

Your SENIOR WILL submission may be published in The Clarion (no charge) on Friday, May 31. A Senior Will is “a declaration of a person’s wishes for what to do with his or her property after they graduate.” A Senior Will can give away things like school supplies, favorite mementos, personality traits, etc., as gifts.

Instructions: Write clearly in the box below and include your full name. Limit your submission to no more than three sentences or 50 words. Deadline for all submissions is Monday, May 13. Alternately, you may submit Senior Wills via jfkpublications@gmail.com -- be sure to include your name via e-mail submission. All Senior Will submissions may be published at the discretion of the editorial board of The Clarion.

Some examples of Senior Wills from the JFK Class of 2018 published in The Clarion, June 1, 2018

I, Cole Klein, will my wit and extraordinary ability to be humble.

I, Joaquin Jauregui, leave my broken pencil to Ryan Smith and my old binder David Gutierrez. Good luck in your classes.

I, Miguel Camacho, will the fact that ogres are like onions. Life is all about the layers. Get Shreked!
